Supply chains

In order to fulfil its activities, the main supply chains of the Organisation include those related to the supply of ingredients and packaging from various suppliers in both the United Kingdom and Europe. The incoming supply chain will include manufacturers and supply agents and, as such, will also they will also interact with lower tier suppliers too.

Potential exposure

The Organisation considers its main exposure to the risk of slavery and human trafficking to exist in its overseas supply chains because they involve the provision of labour in a country where protection against breaches of human rights may be limited, and in the use of external labour providers.

In general, the Organisation considers its exposure to slavery/human trafficking to be relatively limited. Nonetheless, it has taken steps to ensure that such practices do not take place in its business nor the business of any organisation that supplies goods and/or services to it.

Steps
